

LONDON

Having been to London many times before, we chose to target specific areas during the 5 days we had at our apartment exchange on Crouch Hill. These trips took the form of long (3-5 hour) walks.

(See the Video also)

Sunday - re-acquaintment: Trafalgar Square, National Gallery, Westminster, Southbank

Monday - shop-walk: Harrod's, across Hyde Park to Selfridge's (where we exited to orange-tinted dark skies caused by Hurricane Ophelia carrying Sahara sands and European wildfire smoke to the UK)

Tuesday - the new London architecture: Lloyd's building, Leadenhall Market, the Gherkin, the Shard etc. plus the new Tate Modern Gallery.

Wednesday - local shops on Crouch Hill and Finsbury Park

Thursday - a play at Highgate: "Power" (Nick Dear), about Louis XIV.

Our Crouch Hill apartment exchange

The glories of Harrod's

Selfridge's

Princess Diana Memorial Fountain

Golden Jubilee Bridge

the new London skyline